Message from our Alumnus:

“College life is that part of your life that you are going to relive in your life till you breathe.”

This quote completely defines my life spent at St. Xavier’s College, Jaipur. Life at college is the time when our teenage years end and we dive deep into the ocean of new beginnings and possibilities. Xavier’s has undoubtedly played the most important role in making me better equipped to face the challenges in life and create a strong foundation. This college gave me immense opportunities to enhance my skills and instilled in me the 3 Cs- Character, Competence and Compassion in the best possible way. Being awarded for my hard work was the most special moment I had in Xaviers. The memories of my life at Xavier’s will stay with me at every step of my success as it has helped me grow as a person.

Tumultuous Journey of GST

The Goods and Service Tax has just completed a year, and it has been an eventful journey. It is showing signs of settling down, but it will be probably a year or more before all the glitches and annoyances that have come to the fore after the rollout are actually sorted out. It has not turned out to be the good and simple tax as the government promised people, though it is also the Gabbar Singh Tax that the Congress President dubbed it.

The bigger companies, which were preparing for the GST rollout for over a year, took the changeover in this stride. They were very happy with the GST, because the tax system would cut out the advantage that the small players operating informally and evading taxes enjoyed. The small and medium sized firms had to deal with a fair amount of disruption in their businesses, because the GST system not only increased their cost of compliance but also hit cash flow cycles. GST has not led to a collapse of businesses as many critics had warned. But it has caused enough disruption and companies are only now beginnings to get back to business as normal. Over the next year, if the tax collections rise enough for the government to feel comfortable, one can expect a rationalization of the rates. But that is still some while away probably.
